

7/12/5

International Relations Office
American Library School in Paris
Pamphlet File, 1924-1928, 1940, 1945-1946, 1995

Box 1:

Quick Facts on the American Library in Paris

- “Things You Must Know About The American Library in Paris And Why,” 1938
- “Books As Ambassadors” Report, 1953
- American Library in Paris postcard [artist rendering and history], n.d.
- Leaflet of services by Burton Stevenson, n.d.
- The Reference Service on International Affairs of the American Library in Paris, c. 1926
- List of duplicate books by Burton Stevenson, n.d.
- “The American Library in Paris: An Account of Its Origin Growth and Purposes” by Charles Louis Seeger, 1925
- American Library in Paris pamphlet of services, 1926
- “Some Facts About the American Library in Paris,” 1924
- American Library in Paris postcard [photograph and map], n.d.
- ALP Extension Service pamphlet, 1928
- Newsclipping: Chicago Sunday Tribune, 1938
- “Why Join The American Library in Paris/What The American Library in Paris Has Done for Me,” 1932
- The Paris Library School and the American Library in Paris, n.d.
- Englische Studien by Johannes Hoops, 1929
- Newsclippings: c. 1930
- The Reference Service on International Affairs of the American Library in Paris, c. 1927
- Newsclippings, 1928
- “American Library in Paris Solicits Funds,” Publishers’ Weekly, May 25, 1940
- “Let Your Friends Know Where You Are,” c. 1930
- ALP Some Facts Concerning Its Services, 1924
- ALP Reference Service on International Affairs Bulletin No. 1, “Present Status of the Postwar Settlement,” 1924
- American Committee for Devastated France: Library Department, April 1, 1924
- Summarized Statement of the Work of the American Committee for Devastated France, Inc., April 1, 1918 to March 31, 1924
- Blerancourt en Fete [the formal withdrawal of the American Committee for Devastated France from the Department of the Aisne], July 20, 1924
- Report of the Librarian for the Year ending October 31, 1924, 1924
- American Library in Paris: A Report to the Home Committee by Its Request, September 3, 1924
- “A Memorandum of the Chief Considerations Affecting the American Library in Paris” by Robert E. Olds, January 24, 1925
- American Library in Paris: Year Book, 1926
- American Library in Paris Annual Report, November 1945-October 1946
- “American Library in Paris Campaign 2000: Building on Seventy-Five Years of Service,” 1995

(Also contains "Some People Who Have Played A Part in the History of the American Library in Paris," n.d. and 5-page excerpt of the early history of the American Library in Paris, n.d.)